

Board:

Message Boards > Surnames > Jenkins

URL:

<https://www.ancestry.com/boards/surnames.jenkins/3107.2/mb.ashx>

Subject: Re: Abraham JenkinsAuthor: dancjenk52Date: Thursday, December 11, 2008Classification: QuerySurnames: Abraham Jenkins

Abraham Jenkins, where and who was he? We know he was born sometime between 1740 and 1750 in Virginia and died in Virginia. Who was his father? Who was his mother? Did he have any siblings?

The way I see it there are numerous selections for Abraham's father: Ezekiel, William, John, or James based on location and time frame. There is an assortment for his Grandfather: Morgan, Edmond, Nicholas, Alexander, or Oliver. Yet there is no known connection to attribute to any of these.

For his siblings could Jonas, Timothy or Richard Jenkins be Abraham's brothers they all fall in the same timeframe, location and birth dates. Again there is no known written documentation that could validate these questions.

According to the information passed to me by my great Aunts and Uncles Abraham's wife was Sarah Lillard the daughter of Benjamin Lillard. I have no solid fact to back that statement other than the close relationship between the two through the numerous transactions found in Virginia Deed and Will books.

I have seen where some researchers have conveyed what I consider attempts to show correlations that have a probability of filling in missing blanks but none come with validations: dates, documents, wills, or records that can justify the information that can correctly connect the facts and information they have stated.

I have spent over 25 years at countless libraries around Virginia searching and researching hoping to find where Abraham popped up from with no success. I have continually visited and reviewed the findings of Mr. Lucius Harvey and the books of Ms. Amelia Cleland Gilreath and although their stated findings and facts into the Jenkins Family Genealogy they have left voids that have left unanswered questions and concerns.

Tell me what you think!

dcj54@comcast.net

daniel.jenkins@us.army.mil